More power at your fingertips

Successful power uprates require in-depth knowledge, experience and a committed team. That's what we bring. From engineering and fuels analyses to licensing and plant modifications, our experts have what it takes to help you expand your plant's capacity and increase electric generation. Where we maintain the analysis of record, we are the best athlete to lead evaluations under uprate conditions, ensuring compliance and project certainty. Our track record includes extensive experience with uprates and component evaluations.

Framatome focuses on driving results for the U.S. operating fleet, delivering certainty you can trust. We are the proven team to help you achieve higher power generation.

Count on it.
