

all in on NUCLEAR

Through the INL-led Prometheus project, the U.S. Department of Energy is leveraging artificial intelligence to accelerate advanced nuclear reactor design, licensing and operations. Together with 32 partners (and counting), this effort is designed to cut reactor deployment timelines and operating costs in half by transforming every stage of the reactor life cycle.

We offer flexible schedules, relocation packages, competitive salaries and other benefits in one of the country's fastest growing states. Apply now at inl.gov/careers
